Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0603015A1] Form consisting of a continuous lower strip (1) to which there are temporarily attached the constituent parts (5 to 8) of an assembly which after being detached from the lower sheet will be stuck to a parcel or the like. The lower strip has no lines of weakness, which would not be strong enough to prevent them from being torn when the constituent parts of the assembly are being pulled off. The assembly preferably comprises, however, lines of weakness (12) in order to facilitate its folding, these lines being nevertheless strong enough not to tear when it is being pulled off. <IMAGE>
