Abstract (en)
[origin: EP0603606A2] In a container for viscous foods, consisting of an essentially cylindrical container body (3), having a container mouth (2), and of a closure part (5), having at least one delivery aperture (4), for closing the container (1), easier cleaning and filling without problems are made possible due to the fact that the diameter (d) of the container mouth (2) is approximately equal to the external diameter (D) of the container (1).
