Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0611587A2] A trap door, in particular a trap door which can be displaced on rollers (13), whose platform (6) is arranged such that it can be displaced vertically via cable pulls in the manner of block and tackle (4,5), exhibits, as drive of the block and tackles, a ball screw (2) which moves a carriage (3) which can be displaced along a guide frame (1) and the relative movement of which, transmitted via block and tackles (4,5), moves the platform (6) telescopically. For safety reasons, provision is made for a telescopic safety frame which, after the displaceable trap door has been set up, is extended and secured to the fixed frame. <IMAGE>
