Abstract (en)
[origin: EP0613630A1] A hair curler is disclosed, which consists of a curler body (2) and projections (1, 3) mounted thereon. The curler body has the basic shape of a cylinder and serves to receive the hair. At the two end faces of the curler body, a cord-like projection (1, 3) is mounted in each case, the two free ends (4, 5) of which projection can be tied on the side of the curler body and thus firmly hold the curler body with the hair wound onto it. <IMAGE>
