Abstract (en)
[origin: DE4234057A1] The invention relates to a support (1) for fitting shelf bases and the like, consisting of at least three vertical rods (3a, 3b, 3c), two of which are joined together by butt-welded horizontal connectors (5) in such a way as to form a ladder-like bearing section (2), at least one other rod (3c) being joined to the bearing section (2) by at least one supporting way (6) via a plurality of spot welds (8). The essence of the invention lies in the fact that at least one supporting stay (6) is welded to the connectors (5).
