Abstract (en)
[origin: EP0618013A1] Coating product spraying machine incorporated into a plant so as to minimise the number of electrical and pneumatic connections. According to the invention, each spraying machine (3-9), which carries at least one coating product spray head, is also equipped with a casing (103-111) mechanically integral with the body of the machine and containing the elements for electrically and pneumatically controlling this machine. Application to the automatic spraying of coating product on motor-vehicle bodies. <IMAGE>
