Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0618139A1] The package-forming unit (12) brings printed products into a tubular shape and wraps them with a holding element. The packages (20) thus formed are ejected into a first stacking shaft (22) which, as soon as a specific number of packages (20) are stacked therein, is emptied into a second stacking shaft (24). A band (30) is then laid around the stacked packages (20), in order to hold them together so as to form a bundle (32) which is easy to handle. <IMAGE>
