Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0622503A1] Scaffolding as fixed or mobile scaffolding, composed of at least one bottom access platform which is releasibly fastened on horizontal crossmembers in the vicinity of the ground and are at a mutual distance from one another. In order to eliminate the play between the access platform and the crossmembers, the invention provides that a clamping fitting (8) which is connected to the access platform engages around the crossmember (5), in a positively locking manner in each case, and can be clamped onto the crossmember (5) in a frictionally locking manner by a pivotable closure part (16). <IMAGE>
