Abstract (en)

[origin: WO9315006A1] The invention relates to sorting sheet-like objects (1) into bundled groups (2) in which the objects are advanced in rows. The method is mainly characterized by orientating the objects into a fishscale-like configuration in which the objects are inserted partially beneath a respective immediately preceding object, as seen in the direction of advancement, and stacking or bundling the objects (1) from beneath. The invention also relates to arrangement for carrying out the method.
