Abstract (en)
[origin: WO9314663A1] In a shoe (2) with a central closure (1), the central closure (1) is provided with two tightening elements (10, 11) that can be adjusted independently of each other or both together, in order to close different closing areas of the shoe. It is thus possible to tighten or retighten an area of the shoe (2) when another area of the shoe (2) is already sufficiently tightened.
