Abstract (en)

[origin: US5556178A] The invention relates to a storage receptacle with a rear wall and a front wall as well as two lateral walls, in which guide rails are provided at equal heights for receiving and moving of further receptacles fitted in the storage receptacle, wherein at least one of the walls is embodied to be displaceable or pivotable and contains guide rails which, after displacement or pivoting of the wall, alignedly engage the guide rails of the respectively adjoining walls. The storage receptacle can also be arranged in the form of a longitudinal drawer in a piece of furniture and contains transverse drawers which can be pulled out of the storage receptacle crosswise to the pull-out direction.
