Abstract (en)
[origin: WO9319451A1] A publicity display is provided with several polygonal, in particular triangular publicity supports (11), in plan view, arranged on a central tubular mast (2). Each publicity support (11) is a flexible canvas (12) provided with an advertisement and secured to two vertical support tubes appropriately spaced apart. The adjacent support tubes (10) are linked at their upper end to the tubular mast (2) by means of a transversal tube (4) and are linked at their lower end to a ground anchor (16) by means of a tensioning cable (14). The tubular mast (2) has a base (1) and is composed of several individual sections (37, 38, 39) linked with each other in a detachable manner. The publicity supports (11) can be moved to the desired position by a rope drive (99).
