Abstract (en)
[origin: EP0634123A1] With a slatted bed base (1) having side members (2) which may or may not be pivotably mounted and bed slats (4) mounted in fitting parts (3), an economically acceptable, constructionally simple solution is to be provided which enables an elastic, individual movement of a plurality of combined fitting parts independently of the elasticity of the individual fitting parts. This is achieved in that the resiliently mounted side-member regions (5) are arranged on the side members (2) so as to be liftable and lowerable by means of least two spring elements (6). <IMAGE>
