Abstract (en)
[origin: EP0638760A1] A hollow imitation-candle body (1), of cylindrical or frustoconical shape, is designed to hold a removable inner body (2) for mounting the electrical equipment, which body consists of two separate parts (2', 2'') designed to be immobilised inside the body (1) by force-fitting. The said parts (2', 2'') of the inner body (2) are designed to clamp a socket (cap) intended to hold a bulb, via their upper ends (10), a supply lead being held in an axial passage (9) arranged between the said parts by a system of chicanes (19) integral with one of the said parts. <IMAGE>
