Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0644118A1] The invention relates to a method and an arrangement for the unpacking and packing of containers from and into corresponding receptacles, such as cardboard boxes, bottle cases or the like which are used in a continuous work process, mainly in a sector of the drinks industry. The containers (6.9) located in the receptacles (7.1; 7.2) are picked up according to colour, shape or height and abnormal containers (6 or 9) are removed from the receptacles by means of gripper elements of a container-packing machine and the empty places are filled by identical containers (6 or 9). <IMAGE>
