Abstract (en)
[origin: EP0649935A1] A rotary clothes drier has a mast 1, on which arms 4 carrying the washing line are articulated via a sliding star 2. Provided between the arms 4 and the mast 1 are spreading arms 6 which are pivotably attached, on the one hand, to a holding star 3 fastened to the mast 1 and, on the other hand, to the arms 4. To make it easier to stretch out the rotary drier in the initial stage, there is arranged in the mast 1 a spreading body 9 which cooperates with supporting elements 13 attached to the spinning arms 6 and which, as a result of displacement by means of a pull cord 15, pivots the spinning arms until the arms 4 can be swung open without much effort by pushing up the sliding star 2. <IMAGE>
