Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0655395A1] The dispenser for a cleaning liquid or the like, particularly for use in a service kitchen, is characterised in that it comprises: an outer casing 2; a container 13 for cleaning liquid under gas pressure, the container being supported by the outer casing and being equipped with a lower seal which is normally closed; a nozzle 19 cooperating with the seal and designed such that it is able to move between a passive position, in which the seal is closed, and an active position, in which it opens the seal in order to allow the liquid under pressure to emerge in a continuous flow from the container 13 and pass through the nozzle 19 so as to be dispensed in the form of a downwardly directed jet 20; and manually operated means 21 designed to bring the nozzle 19 into the active position and situated in the area under the nozzle 19 and in the zone of the jet 20 in order to be activated by the fingers of the user. <IMAGE>
