Abstract (en)
[origin: EP0657599A1] An articulated-arm awning with a load-bearing framework in which an awning-canvas shaft is mounted rotatably, with articulated arms mounted pivotably in brackets, and with an opening-out rod which tensions the end of the canvas and is connected in an articulated manner to the lower arm of the articulated arm. The technical problem is increasing the opening-out length while maintaining the stability of an articulated-arm awning. At least one arm (upper arm 4 and/or lower arm 5) of each articulated arm (3) forms, in the stretched-out position, an essentially right angle with the opening-out rod (7) and has a telescoping device which is prestressed in the opening-out direction. <IMAGE>
