Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0664976A1] Applicator for cosmetic or pharmaceutical prods. consists of a hollow elongated housing (1), closed at one end and open at the other, and contg. a holder (4) for the stick prod. (6) in the shape of a socket (5) on the end of a strip. The strip is made from a flexible material and its edges are able to slide in grooves (26) along the inside of the housing which pass round curves (30) at the back and extend beneath an elongated port (18) in the housing's upper wall. Part of the surface of the strip has a series of projections (46) which form a grip for the thumb, allowing the stick to be extended from the housing or retracted by sliding the strip along the grooves. The far end of the strip covers the open end of the housing when the stick is fully retracted.
