Abstract (en)
[origin: EP0671138A1] The pull-out mechanism has a telescopically extending guide track (12) which is curved with the curve's outer side pointing towards the cupboard door (3). The guide track runs from the cupboard door's inner surface, from the inner end facing the side attachment edge for the cupboard door to the outer end of the track-support (11) facing away from it. The guide track, near the inner end of the track support, runs for a short way to the cupboard door's inner surface and then in a curve from the cupboard door's inner surface. The track support is longer than half the width of the support (7).
