Abstract (en)
[origin: EP0673823A1] The grating (1) is cut from a trapezoidal blank. It consists of parallel cross wires (4) and longitudinal wires (3), which are positioned in a radial pattern. The longitudinal wires are closer together in the central section of the grating. The position of the curved edges is chosen, so that the parallel sides (9) of the blank are located on parallel planes (15), when the grating is bent into shape.
