Abstract (en)
[origin: EP0679354A1] The disposable tea bag has two flat sections (1, 1') which are pressed together before use. Each section (1, 1') has a stiffening strip (10) at their upper edges (4, 4') extending from one side edge to the other edge (2). Pressure against both sides of the stiffening strip, at the upper edges (4, 4') of the bag, causes each to bend away from the other to be spread apart. <IMAGE>
