Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0679365A1] The washing arm for a dishwasher comprises a tube supplied with the washing liquid, fitted along its length with a number of individual nozzles (3) viewed along the liquid path. Each nozzle has a hole configured to produce a flat fan-shaped jet of liquid. The hole in each nozzle comprises a first section (9) for liquid input, shaped as a triangular slot arranged in a plane perpendicular to the axis of the tube. The second section for liquid output comprises a further triangular slot, parallel to the axis of the tube (6) and linked to the first slot of which it is an extension.
