Abstract (en)
[origin: EP0682885A1] The fixing for a cycling helmet comprises a shell (12) with straps (14) fastening with a quick-release coupling, consists of a hinged plate (20) which is fixed to the back of the helmet and has a support (28) with a strap (30). The rear part (12) of the helmet has a recess (18) for the plate which has one section (24) fixed to the helmet and a second hinged section (22) with the support and strap. The first section of the plate is fixed in place in the helmet by a transverse pin (32), and it also has a slot for the strap to pass through, while the second section with the support can have a moulded covering. <IMAGE>
