Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0683301A1] The device comprising a body (15) bounding a socket (16) for holding a part of a profile (13), an opening (17) for holding a cord (6, 7, 21), and a passage (18) communicating with the opening (17) for sideways entering a cord (6, 7, 21) into the opening (17). The passage (18) intersects the socket (16). A folding curtain incorporating such a device is also described. Since the passage intersects the socket, the cord can easily be introduced into the opening before a part of the profile is introduced into the socket. Then the socket can be positioned over a part of a profile. After the socket is mounted over a part of the profile, the passage is obstructed by the profile so the cord cannot dislodge transversely from the device. <IMAGE>
