Abstract (en)
[origin: WO9403366A1] A method of packaging a number of furniture support bases (10) in a carton (26) is disclosed, said bases having a plurality of arms disposed about a central axis which method comprises: placing a first set (41) of two bases flat in said carton one by another in a substantially ordered stack; placing a second set (42) of eight bases "head up" in said carton one by another in a substantially ordered stack in a plane substantially at right angles to the first set of bases; placing a third set (43) of eight bases "head down" in said carton one by another in a substantially ordered stack in a plane at right angles to the plane of the first and second set of bases; and placing a fourth set (44) of two bases in said carton one by another in a substantially ordered stack in a plane at right angles to the plane of the second and third sets of bases and generally co-axially disposed in the same direction as the first set of bases. The second and third sets of bases are generally co-axially disposed at right angles. A package of bases packed by the method is also disclosed.
