Abstract (en)

The container (1) made of sheet material such as card can be torn selectively along tear lines (10, 10') so as to form one or more portions (S1) which can be removed selectively from the container (1) which is thus shortened. As well as forming a new end opening in the container (1), the removal of each portion (S1) also simultaneously forms a tab (4') which can be turned over to a position (1) in which it closes the further opening.
