Abstract (en)
A spatula tip (3) is attached to the front end (2) of the ski by means of interlocking recesses (5,6) and projections (7,8) located on the ski end and inside a slot (4) in the tip (3) respectively. The slot is rectangular and elongated in shape, with a slit (9,10) in each of its side walls, allowing the two lips (13,14) formed by the slot to open for the insertion of the ski tip. The two slits lie in the same plane and cover the entire length of the slot, and screws (15,16) can be inserted through the base of the ski tip to retain it. <IMAGE>
