Abstract (en)

[origin: WO9417868A1] The invention relates to leisure and especially sporting activities and, in particular, to a device consisting of two table halves (1, 1') mounted on foldable or non-foldable legs assembled together by means of an attachment device secured to each side of the table halves which form, on the assembly line, two circular recesses, wherein are inserted the studs of two posts (7, 7') for a net (6). The two table halves (1, 1') have several circular openings (3) which can be closed by disks (4, 4') having substantially the same diameter and removable by means of a median opening. Used for racket and ball type sports.
