Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0692437A1] The device has several container units (4), divided into sectors. The units are located around a vertical pillar (5). The pillar carries a cover (6), which covers the units at a distance. The units can be moved away from the cover individually, outwards against a stop. The cover projects in radial direction over the pref. 4 container units. It slopes outwards at an angle of pref. approx. 30 deg. The distance between cover and container unit is smaller than the height of the container inserts (3). The units are fastened to the pillar by a slidable collar (7), which is secured by a lockable lock. <IMAGE>
