Abstract (en)
[origin: EP0693430A2] A pallet is made from corrugated cardboard which is cut and creased and scored and folded so as to form a series of base members each having a solid core of vertically extending panels with vertically extending corrugations, wrapped by perimetric extending panels. A series of deck members are formed likewise, and interlocked with the base members using cut-outs in the panels from which the members were formed. <MATH>
