Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0695543A2] A hyperbaric chamber (3) presenting a main chamber (4), an air lock (5), and a floor (6) flush with the outside floor (7). The hyperbaric chamber (3) presents rectangular doors, of which a first (10) enables access to the main chamber (4), a second (11) enables access to the air lock (5), and a third and fourth (12, 13) enable communication between the main chamber (4) and the air lock (5). At least the first door (10) presents a floor portion (21) which is lowered when opening and closing the door (10); and, between the floor portion (21) and the threshold (19), there is provided a strip of floor (22) which is also lowered when opening and closing the door (10), and which remains lowered when the door (10) is closed. <MATH> <MATH>
