Abstract (en)
[origin: EP0702927A1] The wiper (2) with handle has a fixing device engaging with a mating one on the bucket edge (13), and typically mounted on the handle coupling (15). It can consist of a downwards-facing hook, or two hooks at different angles on the coupling. The mating portion on the bucket edge can consist of a recess formed by beading over the bucket edge towards the outside. This works with a movable locking member on the edge and securing the hook in the recess.
