Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0705766A2] The paper or plastics bag has a front wall (3) with several individual uncovered windows (4). The width of each window is less than the size of the goods contained in the bag. The front wall also has a reinforcement (6) glued to it. This has cut-outs in the area of the windows. The reinforcement consists of a similar material as the bag, or of a material, which has a higher resistance to tearing. It extends from the base to the opening of the bag. There are three to twelve individual windows, arranged in parallel rows.
