Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0705927A1] An arrangement for holding weft thread insertion elements in comb fashion has a support block in which the elements are placed in predetermined relationship where the elements comprise first and second elements and air nozzles assigned to the second elements. In the support block (4) are located at least one holder (5) for the first (1) and second (2) elements and, for the air nozzles (3), another holder (6) of elastically deformable material to alter the spacing between the nozzles and direct them at the second elements. Also claimed is a loom with the said arrangement where the support block is mounted at a loom batten.
