Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0710802A1] The attachments (14a) detachably fastening the cladding arrangement (10) to the heater unit consist of sections of cladding panel (20), bent out of the plane of the cladding panel so as to form clamps. The attachments are positioned on the bottom and/or on the top of the cladding panel which has a bent-over arm, pref. on at least one of its lengthwise and/or upright sides. The arm has an extension bent over at roughly 90 deg. to the plane of the cladding panel. At least one of the attachments has a free arm (15) towards the centre axis (26) of the cladding panel, and/or at least one of the attachments has an arm pointing away from the centre axis. The free arm has an extension hook (15b) and/or a cavity (15a).
