Abstract (en)

An automated dispensing machine is of a type that can be installed in toilets in public places, hotels, discotheques or similar places and delivers measured quantities of perfume or deodorants in gas or liquid spray form. The box shaped housing has a number of containers (D) of different products. Coins are entered (G) to select the product and separate spray nozzles (B) are activated by pressing push buttons (C). Push button selectors are available for single (E) or multiple (F) sprayings.
