Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0712975A1] The thin facing plates (1A,1B) are assembled and fixed onto a support (3). One facing plate (1A) has on its section a continuous tongue ((8) which partially penetrates into a rebate (9) in the section of the complementary facing plate (1B). An assembly groove (10) is provided in the extension of the rebate. These facing plates are fitted with an assembly section (2), which they conceal, to the support. The assembly section comprises a base plate which is fixed to the support and a facing plates' retaining leg (6). This retaining leg, parallel to the base plate and joined to it by a web, is inserted in the assembled position of the facing plates partially in the assembly groove of one of the facing plates (1B).
