Abstract (en)
[origin: EP0714622A1] The drawer housing (1) is in the form of a casting in one piece. Each level or compartment has an opening each formed by one horizontal and two vertical struts (8,9a,9b). Lugs (11) pointing downwards into the interior of the housing are positioned on each horizontal strut and act as stops for the drawer (13). The insides of the side walls (3) defining a compartment have a horizontal guide ridge (10). The insides of the vertical intermediate walls (7) each defining a compartment have a horizontal guide ridge (10). The inside of the back (5) has vertical ridges (12) acting as abutments for the drawers.
