Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0714842A2] The guide component formed as a separating roller (8) and the clamp roller (13) are mounted on a support (12) which is in at least two sections. One section (120) supports the spring-loaded clamp roller and the other section (121) supports the height-adjustable separating roller. The separating roller can rotate in the direction opposite the rotation of the conveyor belt drums, and rotation in the opposite direction is blocked. Rotating belts (31) are provided between the separating roller and clamp roller.
