Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0715016A1] A clothes drier is attached to a radiator (1) consisting of several horizontal pipes (4,5). The clothes drier has sliding telescopic arms which hold several clothes supports. The last slide has vertical arms (19) with grooves (20) wide enough to slide over the radiator pipes (4,5). The distance between the bottom of the upper groove (20) and the end of the lower arm is arranged to ensure that the drier is held when in the mounted position.
