Abstract (en)

[origin: WO9506592A1] Portable device for labelling fragile products or other items comprising a labelling apparatus (1) and an electronic housing (2). The labelling apparatus (1) comprises, at the front part thereof, a tilting inclined plane (15) for ejecting labels with, on its free end side, around which passes the tape (5), a support (15b) on which is freely rotationally mounted a pressure roller (8). The inclined plane cooperates with means (7) electrically linking the housing (2), so that each time pressure is exerted on the roller (8), tilting of the inclined plane (15) upwards and its return to the initial position cause the tape to unwind (5) and, correspondingly, the ejection of a label between the product or item and the roller (8).
Application especially in fruit and vegetable labelling.
