Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0716038A2] The folding cylinder (14) is positioned in a gap in rotary contact with the first cylinder (8) conveying the products. The products are held on a first part of the first cylinder by a holder (15) while the product from the first cylinder is transferred to the folding cylinder. The product-holder is wound round part of the folding cylinder surface. The first part of the first cylinder surface extends beyond the start of a folding part (12). A guide (9) extends round a second part of the first cylinder surface, from a second point on the first cylinder surface to one end of a folding part.
