Abstract (en)
[origin: EP0717952A1] The device (1) for cleaning surfaces, in particular for floors, is hand-manoeuvred by an operator on the surface and is provided with a heated-steam delivery conduit (6) on which an impeller (5) of a steam turbine is located. The turbine is powered by steam passing through the delivery conduit (6), and in turn activates a centrifugal fan (10) which aspirates dirty liquid which forms on the surface. The steam exiting from the turbine is sent to a steam brush (3) from which a jet of steam directed at the surface exits. <IMAGE>
