Abstract (en)
An assembly of a curtain rail and a number of curtain suspension elements, wherein the rail defines a slot and the suspension elements are each in a first position in the slot suspended from the rail and are displaceable in the longitudinal direction thereof, whilst each suspension element can be brought into a second position wherein it is removable from the rail via the slot, regardless of the position of the suspension element relative to the ends of the rail and/or the position relative to other suspension elements, if any. <IMAGE>
