Abstract (en)
[origin: WO9510200A2] The invention relates to an article for smokers intended to filter the side stream smoke coming out of a lit cigarette. The article is comprised of a housing consisting of a combustion chamber (4) wherein may be inserted the smokable part of a cigarette. The housing is provided with openings (15, 16) for the combustion supply air and for letting smokes out. The smoke (2) outlet or outlets are provided with filtration means (1). There are provided condensation elements (8), elements acting as chimneys (2) and/or elements forming chambers downstream or upstream of the combustion chamber.
