Abstract (en)
[origin: WO9512332A1] With a brush, in particular for coloring eyelashes or hair, comprising a stem and a number of bristles standing out essentially radially therefrom, the stem being formed by a first leg of a tweezers or scissors-like arrangement, and a second leg of this arrangement having at its free end an abutment for the bristles of the first leg such that in operation the free outer ends of the two legs enclose between them the eyelashes or hair to be treated, the invention provides that at least one of the two legs (4, 5) is designed as a hollow tube connected with a supply container and provided with outlets leading to the outside.
