Abstract (en)

[origin: WO9514408A1] The invention relates to a method for improving a working top (1) in an existing kitchen, whereby a covering top having a covering edge (2) engaging over the front edge of the existing working top is attached by means of a suitable adhesive on top of the existing working top. Use may be made of a covering top comprising a horizontal part, which is joined at its front edge by a covering edge projecting under said horizontal part, whilst a water barrier is located near the transition between the horizontal part and the covering edge.
