Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0733444A1] The box is constructed in two halves(1,2) made of thermoplastic material and each having an outer(3) and inner(4) shell. At least one of the inner shells has a grid consisting of intersecting rows of recesses(5), each having a seat of holding elements(6). The component parts and/or machine parts and/or tools, are fixed by the holding elements inserted in various recesses. The holding elements are inserted to suit the contour of the objects with regard to the inner shell.
