Abstract (en)
[origin: EP0733586A1] The arrangement has telescopic supports, and the support arms(5) are cranked upwards on their free ends(6). Support plates(10) when the support arms are swung into the transport position are each displaced at least partially into the area above the running gear. With the support arms swung into the transport position each support plate may be swivelled with restricted guidance into a tilting position, and their end positions are fixed inside the structural clearance of the crane.
